

Sometimes I

(just feel I like crying)

By James M. Cooper

Sometimes I just feel like crying
Sometimes I just feel like crying, crying.

Baby's gone on down that empty track;
that train'll never be a' coming back.
Sometimes I just feel like crying.

Sometimes I just feel like crying,
sometimes I feel like crying.

Water's gone on down over that dam;
I've done what I could I've done what I can.
Sometimes I just feel like crying.

Sometimes I just feel like crying,
sometimes I just feel like crying.

One foolish move, forever life is changed;
forget all your plans, all the things you had arranged.
Sometimes I just feel like crying.

You can get all proud and cool and brave,
but still you know it ends up at the grave.
Sometimes I just feel like crying.

Sometimes I just feel like crying,
sometimes I just feel like crying.

My only hope is the sacred way;
I know someday the pain will drift away.
The mud, the mess on a freezing day,
my only hope is the sacred way.

But still sometimes
I just feel like crying,
sometimes I just feel like crying,
crying.
